ARTICLE VIII: Endnotes

In the late 1970s, Asian Cultural Organization was formed to enrich the campus of Asian Cultures. Several years later, due to the domination of majority Asian students being Chinese and Korean, ACO became the Chinese Student Organization. There was also a Korean Student Association. In late 1988, 16 CSO members which included Chinese, Filipino, Japanese, and Korean -American students founded the Asian Students Association,

Under the supervision of President Paul Sun' After two years, after President Ed Abadines and President t.k. Pen (Tseng-Kwan Pen), there were many flaws found in the practice of ASA Constitution. A revision was done at the end of t.k. Pen's Presidency, given to President Julius Pulrnano. The original version and the revision version was kept for reference.

In 2013, many Asian organizations were created to serve the large and diverse Asian Community at Carnegie Mellon. Due to these numerous changes in the Carnegie Mellon Community, President Jeffrey Lau revised the ASA Constitution to promote awareness of issues that plague the Asian American community. While culture of other Asian countries will continue to be promoted, ASA will strive to raise concerns to the public and campus administration.

The 16 Founding members of ASA were:

Paul Sun, Tseng-Kwan Pen, Wendi Tsung, Bryan Wu, Victor Liang, Cindy Arias, Jenny Lin, Yi-Ren Wang, Crystal Tsay, Luke Roka Gouda, John Tang, Kelvin Seto, Chi Yao, Victor Law, Julius Pulmano, and Linda Liao.
